Always wearing a big smile, he never asks more of his students and athletes than their very best. Because of his fantastic coaching ability, Andrews has become well known throughout the state. He enthusiastically supports our school and its activities.

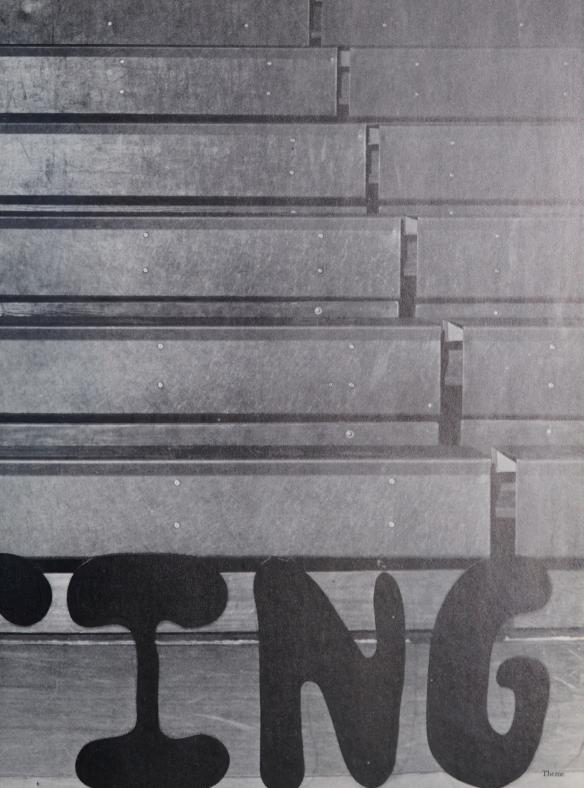

For these reasons and many others, The Reverie Staff dedicates the 1973 Reverie to our head coach, BOB BOSWELL.

FOREIG

The Foreign language clubs accomplished their goal of broadening the scope of foreign languages at Andrews. During this week these clubs gained the interest of the student body.

To further the unity of these languages, the French Club held an Olympics which involved the Spanish and Latin Clubs, too. All of them also competed in basketball. A banquet was held by each club followed by a program displaying aspects of the language.

Not only was the week interesting and fun, but it was educational.

GAA SPRING SPORTS

A first place finish in the sportsday highlighted the Girls Athletic Association's softball season. Led by Terri Warren, Wanda Walton and Janice Wiley, the team finished with an impressive second place conference standing. In volleyball competition, Debbie Johnson, Mary Lynn Morris and Val Pinnix put together a winning combination to record a runnerup finish in the conference. Val Pinnix proved outstanding again in track. Val set a high jump record of 4'10", a broad jump record of 17'7" and participated on the state's second best 880 relay team. Another member of the 880 relay team was Candy Clark, who also gained a second in the conference's 100 yard dash. The mile relay team was strong in their third place state finish as a result of Candy's participation. Relay teams were great and the 440 relay team was no exception because of Betty Bambalis. A second place low hurdles conference finish was another of Betty's accomplishments. Individuals make up a team and the G.A.A. track team got it together for a third place performance in both the conference and state meets. Although the tennis team advanced no one to the state playoffs, three girls did enjoy a good season. Susan Craven was outstanding in singles competition with Sheila Inman and Terri Turner turning in impressive doubles performances.

At the All-Sports Banquet held at the Sheraton Hotel, Miss Thomas rewarded her outstanding athletes. Val Pinnix took home most of the trophies being named most valuable in track and the most athletic. The Girl's Athletic Association's Service Award went to Galatia Galloway. Receiving best all round athlete awards were Donna Voncannon and Ella Evans. It was the opinion of all that Candy Clark receive the most valuable award for her outstanding participation in so many sports. Perhaps the most cherished award of all was the sportsmanship trophy. Debbie Johnson combined her discipline and courtesy to earn this award.

GOLF

In looking back on the 1972 season, Coach Boswell felt the Andrews Golf Team was, for the most part, successful. The team finished as North Carolina's 14th best group in a field of the state's best young golf talent. Robin Rice and Jimmy Ivey, possible college golf prospects, led the Andrews team by posting stroke averages of 73 and 74 respectively. Ricky Briley, with a stroke average of 76, and Breck Culler, with a 75, also added overall strength to the team. With a large number of golfers returning in 1973, we can look forward to another successful season.

TENNIS

The 1972 Tennis Team, coached by Coach McRae, failed to put together a winning season but still gained valuable experience in tennis technique. The team had a four won and six lost record. Burlington Cummings was one of the teams who failed to score against the Raiders, who beat them 9-0. North Forsyth also failed to come out the victor in both matches between the two schools, losing 6-3 and 5-4. The victories over these two schools were the only glimmer of hope in the season, as the Raiders fell to High Point Central, Thomasville, and Reidsville, each twice. Outstanding players were Bill Cochrane, Dickie Black, and Pat Wilson.

HARD PRACTICE PAYS OFF

The members of the Andrews Track Team saw their hard practice pay off many times in 1972. The team won the Conference Meet, the All-Star Meet, and the City-County Meet as a result of their work. There were many individual performances that were good enough to win individual conference championships. Harold Nash captured the conference championship in the 180 low hurdles and in the 120 low hurdles. Joel Smith was the conference's best two-miler, while Rhon Dixon won the mile. Reaching 6'1" in the high jump, Lee Foye also captured the conference championship in his event. The relay teams in the mile and in the 880 proved to be the swiftest by coming in first place during the conference meet. Coaches Lambeth and Wightman sighted Harold Nash as the most valuable member of the team.

POST-SEASON ACTIVITIES

All members of the 1972 Andrews Baseball Team were outstanding, however three players stood out among the others. Receiving the award for the highest batting average was Ronnie Johnson. His batting average was .383. Receiving the Golden Gloves award for his outstanding play was Steve Steffan. Pitcher Billy Sorrell, who was outstanding throughout the entire season, received the award for most valuable player. These three students received their awards from Coach Tom Harger. They were presented over the P.A. system during morning announcements after the end of the play-off games.

OFFENSE

The mighty red machine started off with a new type of offense this year, the veer. Coach Bob Boswell termed this the "Andrews rolling A". After the first two games Boswell, unhappy with the veer reverted back to the faithful single wing. At first, play was rough because of the change after the season had already begun, but settled down to strong playing which brought the Raiders to a 12-1 record for the season, including the State 4-A Championship Title.

At the football awards banquet, the following awards were presented: Most Valuable, Billy Sorrell and Johnny Evans; Most Improved, Breck Culler and Harold Nash: The Head Hunter Award, Jack Powell: Most Desire, Sammie Little; Best Blocker, David Campbell; Unsung Heroes, Ken Hill and Roy Brown; and The High Point Police Department Player of the Year Award, Johnny Evans.

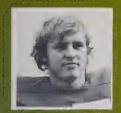

Harold Nash received another great honor by being picked for the Shrine Bowl Game. Johnny Evans was the only Andrews player to be named All-State by the Greensboro Daily News. Harold Nash and Sammie Little received Honorable Mention for All-State by the same Greensboro newspaper.

DEFENSE

Coach Harger's defensive team keyed the Raiders to victory on many occasions enroute to the State 4-A Championship. They gave up an average of only 5.5 points per game during the regular season to capture the State defense title.

Ken Hill served as defensive co-captain along with Billy Sorrell, both setting examples of how the young defensive team should perform. Defense won many games for the Raiders after the offense had done all it could. The goal line stand in Reidsville from the four-yard line gave the Raiders a 6-3 victory. Steve Hamlin saved a touchdown against North Forsyth, stopping Claude Smalls on the eight-yard line and Randy Robinson saved the game with a fumble recovery on the next play. Sammie Little's fumble recoveries set up eventual touchdowns twice against Cummings. Billy Sorrell charged in from his defensive end position to score a safety against Parkland. Jack Powell and Timmy Johnson both scored touchdowns on interception returns against Morehead. Curtis Wilson, who was counted on heavily at the first of the season, came through well for the Raiders as did Breck Culler, the biggest man on the team. The second straight state defensive title proved to be the sweetest for the Raiders, producing a State Championship.

STATE 4-A PLAYOFFS

For the second year in a row, the Andrews Red Raiders advanced to the State 4-A Playoffs. However, this year was to be quite different from last year, when the Big Red Machine lost their first playoff game to North Forsyth. Despite the powerful running of Viking Claude Smalls, this year the Raiders overpowered North Forsyth by 8-7. The second game with Gastonia Ashbrook proved to be an easier task as the Raiders downed the Green Wave by the score of 20-7, thus advancing to the state finals where they met the Reid Ross Cougars, who were riding a 12 game winning streak against no losses. But this did not deter the stubborn Raiders who played an exciting game both offensively and defensively and after the battle was over, were declared the new state 4-A champions by the score of 24-17. The victory was sweet for the Raiders who brought the 4-A championship to High Point for the first time ever.

Coach Hunter boosted his J.V. team to another conference championship.

J.V. FOOTBALL

The 1972-73 Junior Varsity Football Team had an excellent year. Besides their impressive 9-1 record, which included four shutouts, a conference championship was captured. This is the fourth consecutive season that the Raiders have won their conference. A tough defense that gave up even less average points (4.9) than the Varsity offers hope for another football state championship next year.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

The "Red Raider" basketball team got off to a slow start due to some of its members also being members of the highly successful football team. After gaining the support of Johnny Evans, Ken Hill, Jim Atkinson, and Steve Hamlin, the roundballers were not to be denied.

After losing its first two games of the season to a strong R. J. Reynolds team, the Raiders sailed on to a successful season. Some of the best wins were over such ranked teams in the area as Thomasville, Burlington Williams and of course by dumping Central twice by scores of 72-54 and 66-53 respectively. They also captured for the second time in as many years, the second annual Furniture and Hosiery Christmas Classic.

The Raiders were a balanced scoring team being led in scoring at least one night by one of the following players: Evans, Roger LeGrande, Glenn Bethea, Leroy Dunlap, Joe Cheek, and "Wee" Willie Williams.

Bethea and LeGrande were the leading scorers; however, with each player averaging above 18 and 16 points respectively. Roger was also the leading rebounder averaging better than 12 per game.

Ted Brown and Fred Crawford led the scoring for the Baby Raiders with game point averages of 18 and 12 respectively. Outstanding rebounders were Anthony Williams and Mike Clinton.

WRESTLING

The 1972-73 Varsity Wrestling team was at the top of the conference for the 5th straight year. Their record of 16 wins, two losses, and one tie was proof of the determination and hard work involved in making a champion wrestling team. No matter how the team is rated, Coach Lambeth always seems to produce an outstanding team. The most outstanding wrestler on the team was David Campbell who was undefeated during the regular season two years in a row. Other top wrestlers were Jeff Boyer, Richard Larkins, Gary Walker, Bo Quick, and Larry Murvin. Steven Campbell, a sophomore, showed promise and was counted heavily upon in the heavyweight class.

Four wrestlers did well in the sectionals which were held at Ragsdale High School. Larry Murvin and Richard Larkins placed fourth in the 132 and 155 pound weight classes, respectively. Gary Walker won the 185 pound weight class and David Campbell won the 195 weight class. Both Walker and Campbell advanced to the state competition.

The J.V. Wrestling team fared well, also. Led by Coach Harger, the team posted an 8-3 overall record. Outstanding wrestlers were Ronald Durham, Alan Campbell, and Joe McElrath, all of whom should add strength to next year's varsity team.

Curtis Wilson proved to be a steady performer all year.

SWIMMING

The 1973 Andrews Swim Team had an added attraction this year which was the Girls' Swim Team. The girls worked hard to prepare for the State Championship Meet, their only scheduled meet of the season. They had few meets because there are few schools in the state with a team for girls.

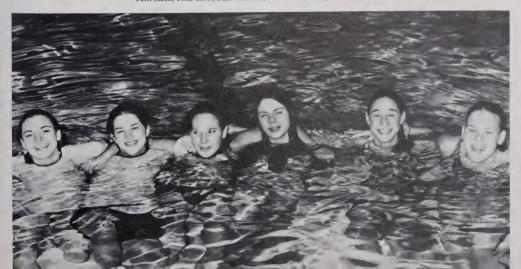

On the other hand, the Boys' Swim Team had a packed schedule. Led by seniors Wesley McGee, Hank Ledford, and Kevin Culler, the team set their goals high and reached most of them. The boys started off their season with Grimsley, followed by Smith, Reynolds, and ended the regular season with Central. On March 2, 1973 the Boys' Team attended the Conference Championship Meet in Greensboro, and on March 9, 1973 both teams attended the State Championship Meet, also in Greensboro.

G.A.A. BASKETBALL

The Lady Raiders approached their 19-game schedule in 1972 with only one returning starter from the 1971 team. The loss of nine seniors made the season a difficult one, but through hard work the girls were top contenders at tournament time. Co-captains Debbie Johnson and Susan Craven, both seniors who had played varsity basketball all three years at Andrews, provided experience and leadership for the team.

Johnson led the team not only in direction, but also in statistics. She was the leading scorer and rebounder and an excellent free throw shooter. Susan Buie, a promising sophomore and leading foul shooter, was hitting 85% of her free throws going into the 14th game. Craven and Bernie McElrath proved powerful on the boards and will be missed after their graduation this year.

ANDREWS

"But he's my date!"

The Andrews Varsity Cheerleading Squad did a great job this year in keeping up the spirit of both our athletic teams and the student body. They participated in car washes, bake sales, and sold "Booster" buttons for their money raising projects. Their most rewarding ventures of the year were supporting the football team to the 4-A State Championship and cheering for a powerful basketball team. Carol Carpenter and Joni Culler served as Head and Co-Head of the squad, respectively.

The Junior Varsity Cheerleading squad was fantastic this year at Andrews. They worked along with the Varsity Cheerleaders in their fund raising projects during this previous summer and this school year. They showed abounding enthusiasm at J.V. football and basketball games, and really boosted school spirit at pep rallies. This year Carolyn Warford served as head cheerleader, and Nancy Turner served as co-head.

Additional Materials Make the Library More Complete

This year our library became a home away from home for many of our students. Miss McIntyre, the librarian, and Mrs. Kennedy, the library aide, were always there to help in our time of need.

The library grew in popularity as its materials branched out into many different mediums. New magazines and a great number of new books flocked our shelves. Not only books filled our library, but we also acquired a more abundant supply of records and films.

Our library stayed busy all year with students working on various projects and subjects ranging from math and science to literature.

Miss McIntyre instructs Tanya Wise on how to use the microfilm.

Interested Students Form Library Club

In order to involve the students in the responsibility for their own curriculum planning, the Andrews English Department offered thirty-one mini-courses this year. The students had to meet broad guidelines, selecting one literature course and one writing or language course, but the other choices were theirs to make. The new courses were planned to meet the individual student's needs and special interests, and students of all grade levels were in classes together. As a result, more group work and individual projects were used than in the previously traditional curriculum. Under the new system, students could take as many English courses as their schedules permitted, and many earned more than one credit in English during the year.

One of the advantages of the new program was the abundance of new materials. Not only were many of the textbooks new, but also many supplementary books, records, magazines, and filmstrips were available. The Mysteries classes saw such films as "The Mummy" and "Dracula" during classes at school. A "Theater Production" class visited the UNC-G theater, for several play productions and also for a tour of the theater and a workshop on the duties and responsibilities of a backstage crew.

The new English curriculum proved to be beneficial.

Outstanding Journalism Students Are Recognized

A newly organized club, Quill and Scroll, rewarded students at Andrews who were outstanding in the field of journalism. The group began enthusiastically by having a bake sale to raise money. The money was in turn used for the publication of the Anima, a literary magazine.

Future Teachers of America Share Interests in Educational Professions

The Future Teachers of America, led by Mrs. Gibson, strived to learn more about the teaching profession. They also examined the problems which they might encounter in that field. The goals for the club this year were: 1) To provide young people with specific information about opportunities in the various fields of education; 2) To encourage young people to cultivate in themselves qualities of personality and character which are the foundations of successful teaching.

The aims of the Drama Club were to promote interest in and appreciation for drama as an art, both as spectators and participants.

Throughout the year Drama Club members engaged in many interesting activities. Two plays were produced—"Mystery Mayhem and Murder" and "Room 222." One was put on in early autumn and the second in spring. The group traveled to UNC-G six times a year to see plays put on by the Drama department there. Visits to the Barn Dinner Theater further stimulated appreciation for drama within the club.

The National Forensic League provided students with the incentive to undertake the rigorous training and practice necessary to acquire a power of effective speech. This training was accomplished through an integrating system of public speaking, debate, interpretation, and radio speaking.

Last years debaters proved they had acquired these skills by winning five nationally recognized tournaments, placing in the remaining tournaments, and becoming the first public school to win the prestigious Catholic national forensic league tournament.

As a result of a superb cumulative effort of Andrews top speakers at the Barkley Forum last year, Andrews has become one of less than sixty schools from the entire nation to receive a permanent chair at the most important tournament in the south. For the second consecutive year, Andrews qualified people for the national tournament which is held during the summer.

Meeting another deadline merits a celebration.

The Forum staff strived to attain the ultimate goal: student acceptance. Each month the staff labored to produce eight pages worth of controversial, creative, and power dominated articles—all relating to what's happening around you. This year new revisions in the format were added and standards modified to devise a new concept in the newspaper. The staff became more specialized and new positions of associate business editor, sports editor, and staff, features editor and circulations manager were added.

The newspaper tried to create a medium for student expression on school, local, and national news. It also provided active experiences for those who later may enter journalism as a career.

Each section worked diligently to meet deadlines, and used their imaginations in order to create a colorful and interesting Reverie.

The Reverie is divided into two staffs, the editorial staff, shown on the left, and the business staff, shown on the right. The photographer for the group this year was Mark Sechler. The sponsors for the group were Mrs. Jones (editorial) and Mrs. Byerly (business). Unfortunately for Andrews, Mrs. Jones decided not to return to school next year, however, with her leadership and know-how she came through for the staff three consecutive years.

Foreign Study—The Key

A group of Spanish students reenact a famous fairy tale they have translated into Spanish. Shown is Steve Weatherman, Pat Corns, Paula Gulledge, and Keith Hodgin.

The purpose of Foreign Language study was to justify the importance of other world cultures. To understand a foreign people, one had to go beyond the study of language skills. A survey of literature, music, and history aided the student in accepting, appreciating, and enjoying a foreign culture. There were four levels of both French and Spanish offered this year.

French I students showed the results of hard work and determination in displaying their projects. Shown is Mike Wells who won first place.

Beetle can't believe Latin Club didn't win first place.

The Latin Club this year consisted of poeple who have taken Latin and others who have expressed an interest in learning more about Greek and Roman culture.

This year, the members of the Junior Classical League, a sister organization, attended a statewide convention in Chapel Hill. Exhibits, plays, oratories, and academic contests were available for participation by the group.

Another highlight of the Latin Club year was homecoming. This year the club built a float. Although the club was small, a big effort was put forth by the individuals. The club created a winning effort even though the judges didn't agree.

Projects for making money were planned to lead up to the final events of the year, a banquet in true Roman style. A scrapbook recording the history of the club was on display in the library at the end of the year.

The T. W. Andrews French Club has proven to be a prosperous and meaningful club throughout the school year. Outstanding activities have made it unique among academic organizations at Andrews and respected throughout North Carolina. Aspects of European culture were experienced in the Annual Escargot Dinner, art displays from the French Consulate, French films, a French Expo of projects, award-winning homecoming floats, a ski weekend at Roaring Gap, N. C., French Olympics, a flea market, attendance at two French plays and finally the creation and sponsoring of the T. W. Andrews French Cup for North Carolina's most outstanding French Club.

The club's advisor, Don Arnold, feels it is a responsibility of the French Club to spread international understanding and tolerance for cultural differences. The French Club represents involvement, enthusiasm and unity. It seeks to excel and to become the club among many clubs.

The French Club officers serve the French Club well this year.

The Spanish Club, led by president Elizabeth Petty, displayed much international understanding of customs and ideas this year at Andrews. Their enthusiastic participation in National Foreign Language Week helped arouse the interest of students. By publishing a bi-monthly newspaper the El Paplito, they were able to relay events associated with the language. The many activities of the club included pinatas, fiestas, plays and banquets. Guest speakers were invited to speak to the members on some particular aspect of the Spanish language. With eagar membership and able leaders, the Spanish Club has shown all the qualities of a superb organization.

Students Better Mathematical Knowledge

Mathematics Department Strives To Give

Mrs. Planson instructs Jeff Schmoyer and Clyde Hewitt on doing proofs in Analytic Geometry.

IT'S NOT THAT THE PROBLEM

Once again this year the Math Department at Andrews sought to give our student body a logical and mathematical form of thinking, which would be helpful in approaching problems. The department also wanted to provide each student with the requirements necessary to utilize mathematics in everyday life, broad cultural purposes, and advanced study.

Mu Alpha Theta tried to promote better understanding and coherency of mathematics among high school students this past year. The club was of service to those students who needed extra help, and tried to make math a little easier to comprehend.

The Math Club had several projects throughout the school year and tried to use them as an aid to the students who sought it. The foremost project for the academic year 72-73 was to tutor those students who had trouble in grasping the fundamentals of higher mathematics. Mu Alpha Theta strived for higher academic acknowledgment, and through the support of the students, it achieved this goal.

Concern At Andrews

Miss Morgan, our new science teacher, explains the parts of the flower to Benjamin Wallace.

The Science Department at Andrews High School believed it was necessary for persons to have an understanding of the workings of nature—biological, chemical, and physical—in order to lead a more productive life, to be able to solve daily problems, and to more fully appreciate the laws of nature and its miraculous creation.

The department tried to offer something for every student. All sophomores took general Biology. Not only did they learn the difference between a paramecium and a planaria, but they were offered information on drugs, veneral disease, smoking, and pollution. Juniors had a choice of Chemistry, Physical Science, or Advanced Physical Science. In the senior year, one could select between Physics and Advanced Biology. Added this year was a semester course in Ecology and Environmental Science. Of course, laboratory work was an integral and necessary part of every course. One learned by doing.

The central aim of all these courses was to make the student aware of the world in which he lives and to develop a natural curiosity and desire to investigate the many unsolved problems of his world and of the entire field of science.

The purpose of the Andrews Science Club was to learn more about science, science careers, and the opportunities, responsibilities, and the important role science plays in our democracy; to explore our own interest and abilities in relation to the various fields of science; and to cultivate in ourselves the qualities of personality, character, and leadership which are essential to scientists. In addition, the Science Club members sought to learn how and where scientists receive their training, its cost, the scholarships available, the number of years required, the academic prerequisites and standards, and to stimulate interest in and interpret science to others. The Science Club sold ecological bumper stickers to raise money.

One Prepares For The Future In Home Economics

The Home Economics Department at Andrews aimed to teach its students the information necessary to living a happy and successful family life. It also strove to provide basic preparation for opportunities in the world of work related to Home Economics. There were two main divisions of Home Economics. Comprehensive Home Ec consisted of Home Ec I and II and Family Life. Occupational Home Ec included Cooperative Home Ec and Food Services. During the year field trips were made to local work stations so that the students could observe the variety of jobs in their related fields.

This year the department acquired cake decorating equipment and new sewing machines which helped the students involved in learning these skills

The preparation of meals is demonstrated by Cecilette Crawford, Rhonda Crone, Annie Belle Pratt, and Cy Wallace.

FHA Makes New Addition To Their Club — Hero

HERO was for students taking any of the Occupational Home Economics courses.

These clubs were both school organizations developed for the purpose of providing exciting experiences that broadened the home economics program.

"... To help individuals improve personal, family, and community living." This was the goal of FHA and HERO and the entire home economics program. The Future Homemakers of America was a national organization in which sophomores, juniors or seniors were able to participate, whereas

Social Studies Program Promotes Student

Mr. Therrell gives his history students an opportunity to discover their America.

Mit. Therein gives his history students an opportunity to discover their America

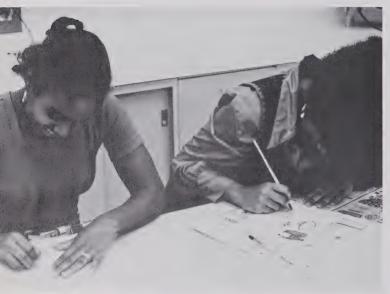

The primary objective of the Social Studies Department was to make the student capable of understanding the present, by knowledge of the past. It was taught that the realization of what one says or does is not unique but a repeat of history. Social Studies' teachers tried to instill in their students the words of Socrates, "Know Thyself."

Seven courses were offered in the department this year. They were U. S. History, U. S. Government, Geography, Western Cultures, Sociology, Psychology, and U. S. and Russian Government Comparative.

Art Department Brings Out Creativity In Many Students

There were three basic aims of the Art Department at Andrews; the development of a skillful, creative handling of techniques and media, an understanding of the relationship of art to society and its role throughout history, and the development of a creative individual. Four art courses were offered this year. Art I was a general survey of art techniques and theory which included drawing, painting, ceramics, and crafts. Art II was a more indepth study of techniques and theory learned in Art I. Art III and IV contained more independent study for advanced students in the areas covered in the first two courses, including commercial arts and crafts.

These Art students are busily working on pen and ink drawings.

Highlights of the Year are Captured on Film by the Photography Club

The Photo Club struggled to remain in existence, but not because of photography itself. They built their identity single handed and established a good reputation, for few photo-clubs were organized in this area. They were willing to cooperate with any school organization in regard to picture-making and upheld their promise of recording life at Andrews on film. It was their purpose to create a history of Andrews High that spoke to the eyes through photographs. The members, as a club or individually, always welcomed new knowledge and gladly gave the same to those who needed it.

Art students express themselves in different ways.

To promote an interest in art among art students and the student body as a whole was the chief goal of the Art Club. Main projects included the Annual Student Art Exhibit held in the Spring, a homecoming float, decorating the front foyer at Christmas, and decorating the bulletin board in the front lobby. The club also rendered its artistic talents when school events required posters. Specifically, the Art Club assisted the athletic department and band with posters and signs. In order to increase the student's appreciation of art, the members took periodic trips to High Point Arts Council and UNC-G art galleries.

For the past two years the club has received the second place trophy for the Homecoming Exhibit.

Department Fills School With Sound Of Music

Music was an integral part of Andrews High School, with three main groups contributing their time and talents this year.

Andrews' Choral Group, led by Miss Mary Browne, participated in the state festival after practicing diligently for several months. One of the highlights of their year was giving Handel's Messiah during the Christmas season.

The marching band, which was directed by Mr. J. Y. Bell, played at all home Varsity football games and in various parades. They also performed at several concerts which were open to the public.

The third group, the orchestra, with Mrs. Fouts as director, gave students the opportunity to play many standard classical and modern symphonic works. They also gave concerts during the year.

Students in all three groups had the chance to express themselves through their musical talents and gained the valuable experience of performing before audiences.

MMM Rewards Outstanding Music Students

Modern Music Masters was a national honor society fostering a greater and continued interest in solo, ensemble, band, orchestral, and choral performance. MMM encouraged better and more discriminating habits in listening to and performance of musical literature.

It provided wider and more frequent opportunities for personal musical expression in the schools, churches, civic organizations, and social service clubs of the community. It was the aim of the organization to increase and advance the spirit of good music and musical knowledge and further the reputation of the school as a music center.

The members of the Modern Music Masters Society were committed to the standards of all forms of good music.

The T. Wingate Andrews chorus was an integral part of the school curriculum. It met daily as did all of the other classes. Its standards were high; more for quality of singing performance than for quantity of personnel. However, all interested persons were given an opportunity to try for a position in the group. As this was the only choral group scheduled, there had to be a great concentration on good singing techniques.

The chorus participated in music work-shops, district and state festivals.

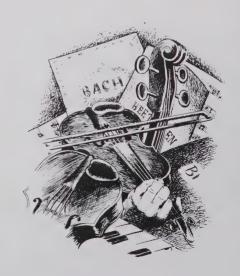

Each succeeding group requested a performance of Handel's Messiah as a Christmas presentation. The group made several appearances in and about the community for civic organizations. The year was climaxed with a spring concert.

The Andrews' orchestra was conducted by Mrs. Elizabeth Fouts. This year's orchestra was composed of eleven violins, one viola, one cello, four double basses, two clarinets, one bassoon, and one percussionist. The orchestra students practiced a full period daily and strived toward a goal of musical perfection. The main highlights of their year were their concerts performed in conjunction with the orchestras from Central, Northeast, and Ferndale.

Mr. Bell directs during half-time activities.

One attraction at Varsity football games this year was the half-time activities to which the band contributed. Each game had its unique formations and songs.

Being one of the only school bands in the nation asked to attend the Olympics in Munich, Germany, Andrews band struggled to raise $75,000 for the trip to Germany and back. Though much money was raised, the band fell short of their goal and had to give up their chance of going to this foreign country. Even though the band could not accept the invitation, it was an honor that will long be remembered by the 1972-73 band of Andrews.

To raise money during the year, the band sold ice cream, candy bars, combs, and Red Raider pillows. This money was then used for transportation and lodging for the band when they participated in contests and gave performances for various audiences.

Colorful Band Performances Are Made Possible By the Majorettes

High-stepping to the beat of the drummers, the majorettes added a new dimension to the precision drills of the band with agility and warmth. Performing at all football games and in parades, they met the spectators with a smile and poise.

Led by Teresa Holland, head; and Cotrelia McInnis, co-head; the girls twirled and danced to the sounds of "Backstabbers", "Make Me Smile," "Outa Space," "Razor Blade," and many more.

The Raiderettes Add Much Excitement to the Half-Time Shows

The Raiderettes drill team consisted of girls who gave their time and their interests to performing for the student body at football games during half-time. This contribution to school spirit was one of their main projects.

Led by Lynn Williams and advised by Mrs. Harris, the girls continuously strived to better their team. Performing in the Christmas parade also gave them a chance to prove their talent.

The Raiderettes with their colorful uniforms and outstanding routines were certainly an added attraction to Andrews this year.

Prepare Students For The Future

Typing, Shorthand And Other Business Courses

The strange symbols in Shorthand become meaningful words as Pat Corns does her daily drill.

"Now is the time for all good men . . ."

Camille Bailey works carefully to record accurately the numerical data in her bookkeeping problem.

Typewriters, adding machines, and duplicating machines—these were just a few of the materials involved in the Business Department this year. By classroom instruction and practice on these and various other machines, the teachers were able to better prepare their students for the skills that would help them in acquiring worthwhile occupations after high school.

The Business Department's variety of courses consisted of typing, shorthand, business machines, business math, data processing, co-operative office occupations, preparatory office occupations, and consumer economics. A new course was offered this year also. Personal typing was added as a semester course to provide college bound students with the chance to learn the basics necessary for typing college material.

Students A Business Advantage

Mr. Randall gives instructions on how to build a strong foundation.

Setting up displays, mastery of basic math skills, and utilizing communication skills—these were just a few of the many things involved in the Vocations Department this year. Auto Mechanics, Bricklaying, Distributive Education, Marketing, and Co-operative Home Economics were the courses in which these skills were incorporated. They allowed the students to select career objectives and to gain classroom instruction in addition to actual working experience.

Running the cash register accurately is just one of the skills that Robin Rice can master during his vocational training.

Vocations

Mr. Ingram observes while Craig King and Buddy Prince demonstrate their skills.

Andrews' Students Get On The Job Training

DECA CREED

I believe in the future which I am planning for myself in the field of distribution, and in the opportunities which my vocation offers.

I believe in fulfilling the highest measure of service to my vocation, my fellow beings, my country and my God - that by so doing, I will be rewarded with personal satisfaction and material wealth.

I believe in the democratic philosophies of private enterprise and competition, and in the freedom of this nation—that these philosophies allow for the fullest development of my individual abilities.

I believe that by doing my best to live according to these high principles, I will be of greater service both to myself and to mankind.

The DECA club of Andrews had another very prosperous year. The club had four major goals and they tried to attain them through on the job training experiences. The purposes were:

- Vocational understanding to help the student acquire first hand knowledge of merchandising, salesmanship, and the opportunities available in his chosen career.
- Civic consciousness by developing his recognition of his obligations to the community.
- Social intelligence the opportunity to develop poise and gain knowledge of social graces.
- Leadership development the opportunity to develop not only into a leader, but a follower as well.

Mrs. Erath, the distributive education teacher advised the students and helped to open doors for their future occupations.

By taking courses in Auto Mechanics and Bricklaying, students at Andrews got a head start on learning the trade of building and repairing. The classes met at William Penn, under the direction of Mr. Ingram.

The students from Andrews and Central learned by experience. Auto Mechanics students received further experience by working on cars belonging to the school administrators.

ICT, under the leadership of Mr. Bolds, gave an opportunity to learn and understand the skills required for job training.

Local employers were encouraged to contact a teacher coordinator at school when they had a training station available. Students then were given the opportunity to further their occupational abilities with the guidance of professional help. ICT prevented exploitation of young workers and developed respect for education by proposing that employers recommend occupational education to young applicants for employment.

Outstanding students were recognized for their abilities, interest, and performance.

Pep Club Keeps Up Morale Of Raiders

This year a pep club was formed at Andrews to help increase school spirit at ball games and pep rallies. The club consisted of cheerleaders and other student body members who were enthusiastic about the Red Raiders. The members got the students involved in these sports events by handing out Raider buttons before the games. Mrs. Byerly advised this new club and helped them get off to a good start.

Booster Club Supports Raiders

The Booster Club had another good year at Andrews. The club consisted of teachers, parents, or any adults interested in supporting Andrews' athletic endeavors. This group not only supported our athletic program with money, but also with their presence at the ball games, wrestling matches, golf tournaments, and track events. One of the main projects of the year was a spaghetti supper in the school cafeteria.

The athletes and student body appreciated the hard work that these members put forth this year that helped to make Andrews Number One.

Outstanding Booster Club member is recognized.

Physical And Driver's Education

1 - 2 - 3 PUSH!

Don't let it get you down, girls.

Driver's Education provides for safer roads and highways.

The aims of the Physical Education Department at Andrews this year were to provide healthy, wholesome, recreational activities for students. They strove to stimulate and develop muscular skills through participation in activities which would generate fair play habits and create a spirit of good sportsmanship.

Basketball, tennis, and track were a few of the included activities.

Skill + Concentration = Bullseye!

To produce a sportsmanlike attitude among girls was one purpose of the GAA. The GAA consisted of girls who enjoyed most any sport and were also willing and able to put forth effort and time to achieve abilities in the field of sports.

While the girls met everyday during seventh period, they had an opportunity to develop skills in such sports as: basketball, softball, archery, ping-pong, volley ball, tennis, speedball, track and bowling.

From the GAA the girls' basketball team was chosen. It was composed of girls that had acquired good basketball skills and an appreciation of the sport.

Also, Andrews Red Raiders stickers for car windows were sold by the GAA as a sign of school spirit.

FCA Encourages Athletes To Possess Sportsmanship and A Christian-like Attitude In Their Endeavors

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes helped to instill in its members a sense of true sportsmanlike conduct and tried to join the ideas of Christian fellowship with those of sports. Membership was open to any young men who had participated in varsity sports. This year, not only were these men of service to athletics but also participated in community causes. Coach Boswell and Coach Wightman headed up the group this year.

Several students gave up their study hall time to perform a service to the school. By typing, answering telephones, running errands and working in the library, these students aided the offices, teachers, and students. They proved to be of invaluable assistance to those in the library. Some donated their services to help teachers in the physical education department and on various office staffs.

Bus Drivers Transport Students Safely

This year at Andrews, school transportation was a serious undertaking which called for alertness and vigilance on the part of the drivers. Because of the new school boundary lines, there was more cross city busing. This required an abundance of capable drivers. To provide for a more orderly bus, monitors were chosen. As always, the goal of the drivers was to transport students without mishap.

School Store Provides Valuable Service to the Students

Andrew's students were fortunate this year in having an efficient school store. Run by students who gave their free time, the store proved to be an asset. Several small disasters were prevented by having a school store which was open during school hours, and which carried instructional supplies at a reasonable price. All profits were used for school instructional aids.

Rayma enjoys helping students in need.

Possible Future Nurses Participate In Red Cross Club

The Red Cross consisted of high school girls in the High Point area that were willing to participate in volunteer work at the High Point Memorial Hospital and the Blood Mobile. While aiding the nurses and patients at the hospital, and helping with blood donors at the Blood Mobile, the girls learned their responsibilities as future nurses.

After the Red Cross Volunteers were able to cheer up the patients by visiting them and distributing joke books issued monthly, the volunteers also aided the nurses by separating and delivering mail, checking up on and refilling pitchers of ice water for patients, and helping out at the front desk. Blood Mobile workers filed the donations that were received, and kept donors quiet after giving blood.

Uniforms that were required to be worn during work were bought by the girls, who received their cap and pin in an installation.

Nightwatchmen And Maintenance

Shown are Helen Spears and James Griffin, two members of the Andrews' maintenance staff.

The nightwatchmen at Andrews had a lonely but intriguing job. Each night they walked the darkened halls to be sure there were no unauthorized visitors. Mr. Reep and Mr. Seltz had to split their watch between Northeast and Andrews but they did a thorough job in protecting our school property.

Going into the building and around the campus, one found that our maintenance crews were on the job constantly. The sweeping of floors and cutting of grass were only a few of the important tasks they performed for our school this year.

Mr. Reep protects the school by keeping all doors locked.

Mr. Seltz checks halls and buildings for prowlers.

Throughout history, man has recognized and marked for special honor, those who excel. Ancient and medieval universities established their honor societies. In modern times, the coveted honor of election to Phi Beta Kappa outranks all other distinctions a college can bestow. In election to the National Honor Society, the secondary school faculty honored the attainments already made and recognized the promise they contain of continued excellence in the cherished ideals of a school.

Inductions were held for new members twice each year, once in the fall for seniors and once in the spring for juniors. Criteria for membership was based on four qualities: leadership, character, scholarship and service. Every member excelled in all four categories. Membership in the National Honor Society has become recognized nationally as one of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon a high school student. Membership was, however, more than an honor; it carried with it a responsibility and was considered the beginning of an obligation, not merely the successful culmination of an effort to achieve recognition and honor. Officers of the 1972-73 National Honor Society were: President: Bill Medlin; Vice President: Raymond McAllister; Secretary: Connie Allred; Treasurer: Bonnie Poovey.

Another society set up for the purpose of recognizing those students who excelled in academic areas only, was the Beta Club. In order to become a member of this organization, students must have maintained an over all average of 3.5 as juniors and 3.0 as seniors. Inductions were held once this year at which time all qualified juniors and seniors were invited to join. Officers of the 1972-73 Beta Club were: President; Joe Cheek; Vice President: Toni Warren; Secretary: Anne Clary; Treasurer: Elizabeth Petty.

A few of these activities were participating in the Pilot Club Country Store, making treats for the children of the High Point Kindergarten of the Handicapped, dressing dolls for the Salvation Army, and building a float for homecoming which won first place in the competition.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Townsend and Miss Morgan, the Club has greatly served the school and community. They have successfully fulfilled their goals: To promote leadership, ability and responsibility.

Being sponsored by Pilot International. the Anchor Club hoped to send a member to Philadelphia to Freedom Foundation. The officers were: President, Susan Horney: Vice-President, Gail Wall; Secretary, Teresa Garcia: Treasurer, Tamzie Wallace; Historian, Anne Horney; Directors, Dianne Wall, Doris Easter, and Jill Dorsett.

CIVINETTES SOAR TO GREATER HEIGHTS

Members showed their school spirit by decorating athletes' lockers.

Sponsored by the local chapter of Senior Civitans, the Junior Civinette Club provided for its members opportunities for fellowship, social activities, and service to school and community.

Parties were held for needy people in the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons. To raise money and at the same time to arouse school spirit, the girls sold flowers on Homecoming. Many other service and money making projects were held throughout the school year.

Their president, Jackie Webb. led the club in all their activities. Andrews Civinettes have definitely proved to be an asset to the school.

Officers were: Jackie Webb, President; Patti Slack, Vice-President; Mindy Neely, Secretary; Mickey Key, Treasurer; Marcia Davis, Chaplain; Marsha Horlick, Pat Reagan, Susan Overman, Historians. Advisors were Mrs. Bullins and Mrs. Link.

Civinettes relaxed and talked over plans.

INTERACT PROMOTES MORE SERVICE FOR ALL

In order to develop leadership, individual responsibility, and international goodwill, the Interact Club, sponsored by the Rotary of High Point, engaged in many useful projects and activities this year. To help the appearance of the school grounds, the club cleaned the parking lots and surrounding areas on occasion.

By working together, the Interacts built a very substantial float for Homecoming.

Faculty sponsor, Stu Allen, assisted by the club president, Robbie McGowan fought diligently to regain the club's charter this year. Fortunately the charter was returned and the group began a year which proved to be successful.

to the community. This year has also proved to be a successful one for the girls.

To carry out their purpose of developing serviceable citizenship by a daily living of the Golden Rule, the Keyettes engaged in many worthwhile projects and activities. A fashion show sponsored by the Velvet Door of Greensboro was held to raise money for the support of an orphan child. Thanksgiving and Christmas provided still more times for the girls to display their enthusiasm by helping needy families.

Faculty sponsors for the Keyettes this year were Sandra Johnson and Ann Byerly. Both were pleased with the success of their club. The Keyette Club of Andrews has certainly displayed those qualities which only an outstanding service club possesses.

President, Patra Moore; Vice-President, Cindy Morris; Corresponding Secretary, Pat Corns; Recording Secretary, Libby Wright; Treasurer, Camille Bailey; Historian, Becky Young.

KEY CLUB

Again this year the Key Club proved to be an asset to Andrews. Some of their service projects included cleaning up the parking lot after homecoming, sponsoring a paper drive, taking candy to the children's ward at the hospital, entering a float in the homecoming competition, and attending the District Convention in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. The Key Club was sponsored by the Kiwanis of High Point and Mr. Therrell served as their teacher sponsor.

HELPS ANDREWS TO PROSPER

JUNIORETTES CARRY OUT ANOTHER GREAT YEAR

The T. Wingate Andrews Juniorettes placed as their goal for 1972-73 to do service to those girls in the club, as well as their school and community. Sponsored by the High Point Junior Women's Club, Juniorettes participated in the city-wide glass collection and the Junior Women's Club "egammur" sale held at the Armory.

The girls met bi-monthly to discuss such activities as bake sales, book sales, collecting for heart fund and TB, and visiting Murdock, a home for retarded children. As a special project the club sold POW-MIA bracelets in an effort to raise more money to free the prisoners in Viet Nam. This project was a big success because of the Juniorettes' hard work and the support of the student body.

The advisors of the club, Mrs. Nan Bowles and Mrs. Carolyn Planson helped the girls to fullfill their purposes of promoting intellectual, spiritual, and social growth among the future women of High Point.

Row 1—Vicki Walker, Historian; Sandy Underwood, President; Debbie Bollinger, Secretary; Laurie Blackburn, Chaplain. Row 2—Bonnie Poorey, Vice-President; Jane Waller, Treasurer.

Row 4—Ellen Quinn, Julia Gibson, Sandra Harbinson, Laurie Blackburn, Sharyn Moore, Debby Bollinger, Debbie Allred, Patti Underwood. Row 5—Glenda Johnson, Michelle McDowell, Nancy Turner, Cherie Gurney, Joni Culler.

Through diligent efforts and much cooperation from members, Juniorettes were awarded second place in float competition.

JUNIOR JAYCEES ACCOM

Being sponsored by the High Point Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Junior Jayces of Andrews provided the school with their time and effort through various projects in the year. Under the sponsorship of Mr. John Therrell, the organization extended its service throughout the community.

Club membership extended to any young man, whether rising sophomore, junior, or senior, with the restriction of maintaining at least a C average. All members learned to work well with others of the same age, and to practice good sportmanship. One of the projects performed by the club this year was the sponsoring of a Miss Christmas Seal for High Point, Cindy Campbell.

Officers: President, David Miller; Vice-President, James Murphy; Secretary-Treasurer, Mike McDowell; Sergeant at Arms, Billy Sorrell.

SOPHOMORES

What is a Sophomore?

A Sophomore is a new arrival who is just beginning to get his high school experience together. This year, Andrews Sophomores did a good job of beginning.

First, Sophomores elected as leaders from among their midst President, Mark Green; Vice President, Laura Kirby; Secretary, Patty Underwood; and Treasurer, Sharyn Moore. Then, under the able leadership of their sponsors, Mrs. Flythe, Mrs. Townsend, and Coach McRae, Sophomores set out to get involved in pep rallies, Homecoming, Club pledging, Review and Preview, candy sales to raise money for the yearbook, tests and more tests, Student Council, and finally, the ordering of those cherished class rings.

Andrews Class of '75, this year's Sophomores, have begun to get it all together and now anxiously await their next years.

"I'm afraid you'd better stick to bicycles."

JUNIORS

Take enthusiasm, creativeness, spunk, audacity, ingenuity, lightheartedness with only a dash of common sense, barrels of fun, and a strong sense of pride in being a Raider—put it all together and ZAP! What else could you get except a Junior.

That's right, Andrews' '73 Juniors, who are through with being Sophomores and are anticipating being Seniors, have contributed largely to making this one really great year. Led by Class President Chris Exline, Vice-President Doug Burrow, Secretary Keith Naylor, and Treasurer Laura Eaton, this year's Juniors have conquered PSAT's, club pledging, and football (Right on!), and have participated in College Day, Homecoming, Career Day, candy sales—you name it, they participated.

So Juniors, keep on putting it all together, and just remember: ONE MORE YEAR!!

Boo and Deborah apparently found a new method of passing tests.

College? Marriage? Career? These are the questions Seniors are faced with every year. This year's Senior Class was no exception. Applications were sent off to colleges all over the Eastern Seaboard in a fury of excitement. DECA and ICT trained many Seniors with skills they would use all their lives. Many young men and women became confronted with the prospect of marriage.

With John Leonard (President), Wesley McGee (Vice-President), Teresa Holland (Secretary), and Sandy Underwood (Treasurer) leading, the Senior Class of 1972-1973 sold World's Finest Chocolate to get the class out of debt from the previous year's prom. Many questions arose this year. Two of the most prominent concerned the question of whether or not to have a prom and a formal graduation. A large part of the class felt a voluntary graduation ceremony should be offered.

Many Seniors distinguished themselves in various activities this year, Raymond McAllister was past president of the North Carolina Association of Student Councils. Raymond also attended Senate Youth Forum. Bill Medlin and John Leonard attended Boys State. Bonnie Poovey received a distinguished English award from the North Carolina Council of Teachers of English. Sandi Gilchrist attended Girls State. Cindy Morris was crowned High Point's Junior Miss. Becky Young was first runner-up in this contest. Teresa Holland was one of the five finalists, and Pertena Ingram was awarded the Most Talented Non-Finalist. Bill Medlin and his partner Chris Exline placed within the top ten teams nationally in debate. Harold Nash was chosen to participate in the Shrine Bowl Football Game. Sandi Gilchrist, Bill Medlin, Jeff Schmoyer, David Kidwell, Liz Petty, Tim Bottoms, Kim Gallimore, Sherry Livengood, Judy Mader, Clyde Hewitt and John Leonard competed in the High I.Q. Bowl. Many other students excelled in various fields and events.

This year's Senior Class will leave in June (most of it, anyway) with many fond memories of Andrews High.

REMINDERS

To most students at Andrews, the school year 1972-1973 will be a year to remember. There were exciting and disappointing days, days full of joy and happiness, and those days that some people would rather just forget.

The students were proud of the football team as they brought distinction to Andrews throughout the city. They were proud of the Band that almost went to the Olympics. They were proud of students who distinguished themselves and brought honors to Andrews...

... Distinction came to Andrews in the form of dedicated students who served their clubs and school proudly. The students showed their concern for the community by always serving when they were asked.

And there were also days that nothing could go right, when students felt that they could crawl into their lockers and not come out again.

But during a year, there has to be a mixture of good and not so good which always will be reminders of the year 1972-1973.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The REVERIE Staff would like to express its appreciation to the following people. Without you it would not have been possible for us to publish this book.

Thanks to .

The student body of HPA-you created what we have attempted to preserve.

The faculty-for excusing our many interruptions.

Mark Sechler-for all of our fantastic photography.

Mrs. Lillie Jones-as our advisor you were always there when we needed you.

Mrs. Ann Byerly and the Business Staff-without your efforts we could not pay for our books.

Susan Ingold-for your great art work throughout the book.

Mrs. Loraine Fairfax-for putting up with our many phone calls and letters to Delmar.

Mr. C. F. Boswell—for shooting our classes pictures and many of our candids and also for being our company representative.

Our advertisers and patrons-without you the book would not be possible.

It is hard to believe that it is over. You have your books now and you are the judge.
